Honorable John V. Tunney, Chairman
Subcommittee on Constitutional Rights
Committee on the Judiciary
United States Senate
Washington, D.C. 20510

Dear Mr. Chairman:

This is in reply to your letter of 11 September inquiring as to whether the Agency maintains any listing of American citizens as part of its emergency preparedness program.

The Agency does not maintain personal information on American citizens for use during emergencies. The only American citizens listed in any roster for emergency use concerns current Agency employees who would form the cadres to continue Agency operations in the event of relocation due to an emergency situation. This consists only of a listing by position and grade and reflects no other personal information. There is no other listing of American citizens as part of the Agency's emergency program.

Sincerely,

/s/ W. E. Colby
